

IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

If I could invent something new, I will invent a “prambis” which is a form of power machine which uses refuse and waste products as its source of power. It is more like a soundless generator, but instead of using fuel as its source of power, it would use refuse and waste products.

The prambis would be an economic power machine because it would make the environment more clean and it would reduce the high percentage of land and air pollution since the refuse is not thrown away but used to generate electricity. Noise pollution from generators would also be eradicated because the prambis is soundless.

As we may all know the price of fuel is on the high per day and is scarce in our beloved country Nigeria, so why not a power machine which would not use fuel as its source of power but refuse and garbage.

Furthermore, the prambis could be afforded by everyone in the country because it would not use fuel which is expensive but garbage which is thrown out of the kitchen daily.

In conclusion the prambis power machine would be very economical as crude oil would be conserved and it's refining would be directed to producing other products. The prambis would make the country cleaner and better.
