

IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

I Juliet Ifunanya Nzekwe a student of A&D International Academy, who is in JSS 2 who reside at No. 6, Amenaghawon Street, Off Powerline, Uwelu Quarter's, Benin City. Tel (07030697017).

If I had a chance to invent something new which would be very beneficial for mankind, it would be an electric wheel chair. In this time, people are using an ordinary wheel chair, so because of that, people stress their hands but if there is an electric wheel chair as I request everything will change radically, and people will stop using an ordinary wheel chair and start using the new production, in fact there will be no stress and we all know that the normal wheel chair has causes lots of accidental jams which has led to plenty mysterious death. So that's why I want to invent an electric working wheel chair.

Firstly, my intention would help to decrease the accidental rollers stress that could cause jams including, traffic jam. As statics shows traffic jams are increasing in our society, cities and countries around the world. Especially, during business hours when there is still normal wheel chair it could slow people down and there is impossibility to cross fast while on the road, which could lead to traffic accident. But if there is an electric wheel chair, people could at least get rid of traffic accident.

Secondly, as a result to this invention there could be decrease of car accident. Sometimes, if those using wheel chair is crossing the road, there could be an accident, because it is moving slow, sometimes it could even let people disobey the traffic rules and regulation, because they had lots of reasons. They could violate the laws, because they are in hurry and don't respect traffic rules and not just that the wheel chair is slow in moving, so they tried to escape different traffic problem like road construction, and crowd of people etc. but if there is an electric wheel chair, it would help a lot, what you need to do is to just ride to your destination.

So in my opinion, I think there is only one solution to these problem, which is my invention of an electric wheel chair.

Finally, it would be fun, we have never seen an electric wheel chair in the society and in most movie. And obviously, it is interesting and people would want to try it by themselves.

In conclusion, I would like to change this stressful atmosphere of people wasting their time and resources buying a wheel chair; instead I would love it for the ill/sick people who can't walk to buy an electric wheel chair, which is active, more generative and well design to aid them for a better living. This invention would be very beneficial to mankind and people in the society who can't walk to help them enjoy better living in the society and help them move around with ease without them being stressed out.
