Topic: If I could invent something new.

Man has always been on a continuous Journey In search of knowledge, diving into the very illumination of his soul. His divine nature as a demi god gives him access into the realm of the unseen. When he begins to travel deep into his mind harnessing witty ideas, inspirations, and revelation and captured insight of discovery his quest for power. Something supreme transcends him to become a superior in the realm of invention by the power of his mind. This is his very essence; to be able to create.

To form the basis of initiation I want to give a simple definition of the word 'invent'. What is Invent?

To invent means to create or design something that has not existed before. If I could invent something new. I would invent a phone that uses sunlight (solar) and water (Hydro) as a source of power.

From the inception of Nigeria's Independence one of the lingering issues that has made Nigeria as a Nation looks bankrupt, is the instability of good and quality governance. In turn has greatly retarded the development, in terms of distribution and stability of Power supply in Nigeria. Nonetheless Nigeria is enormously blessed in abundance with the free gift of nature (Natural Resources).

This has not been efficient to every state, local government area, Communities that can boldly attest to having had Stable uninterrupted Power supply for a minimum of a decade.

This has affected the comfort of living, Small all scales businesses, business men and those who can't afford alternatives like PMS generators.

You will believe with me that a country without a stable power supply will have a fluctuating economy due to power failure. Many can't keep up with expenditures due to insufficient power supply.

With these issues, I have come with a breakthrough. This is the reason why If I am given the opportunity to invent something new I would have to invent a phone that Water or sun Could Charge, with my little experience People find it difficult to do meaningful things With the Power Supply in Nigeria, this have discouraged many People and so many are looking for a way forward for this huge problem. That is why if I could invent something new, I would invent something that does not need a power supply. I strongly believe that youths and children nowadays who are so determined to do great things in our country are discouraged because of low power supply. Most of the businesses we do today are through phone or internet and we need power supply or light to charge phones and computers and laptops, but you will not bother if you could have a phone that you could just charge with water or sun which every man can reach. It will help subside the bills you are paying to the Power holding Company.
