

IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

What is inventing? Inventing simply means to create something that do not exist or to achieve by creating and by your capacity or abilities. In this life, we need to invent something new by how? By focusing in your academic and study some certain things that will make you a Hero in future.

In today's rapidly and technological advanced world, the possibilities for invention and innovation are endless. Also individual with a passion for creativity and problem solving, I often find myself imaging, what I could invent if given the opportunity. In this essay, I will explore the concept of inventing something new discussing the potential. In fact, such an invention could have and the process of bringing a new idea to life.

One of the most aspect of inventing something new is identify a problem needed in the invention. The key to successful invention, understanding what the consumer wants or needs. In my case, if I could something new, I would focus on creating a necessary and environmentally friendly alter-natural charging Calculator with the help of charging calculator, we can calculate simply and faster way on the environment, there is a dare need for innovation solution in this area.

In developing my invention, I would conduct through research into existing materials and technologies that could be to create wireless calculator. This would involve Exploring various options such as scholar calculator, wireless calculator and charging Calculator and other suitable alternative by drawing on the expertise of engineers.

Doctor and environmental expert would be able to identify the next and viable and effective solution for my invention. Another important aspect of inventing something new is considering the potential market demand for the product. Information is said to be power and if you are not informed, you are deformed. In case of sustainable Calculator, there is a growing trend towards eco-friendly and sustainable products Among the user by tapping into this market trend. A man called Benedict Ikechukwu from United States of Africa who invested water car in USA. Additionally, with the Increasing awareness of environmental issues and the push for cooperate suitability. Companies are increasing looking for sustainable calculator solution to align with their Values and meet consumer expectation.

In conclusion the process of inventing something new requires creativity, problem Solving skills and a deep understanding of consequence needs and market friendly Focusing on addressing pressing issues that have suitable power to make pesiture. In fact, to the world through the invention.

By improving the wireless calculator, scholar calculator and so on, also planning to make Them available for the people will be of a great impact to our society at large, and there is an adage that says "Believe that life is worth Living, and your belief will help create or to invent the fact. William James, which says That an inventor do not quit before he/she gets his pride.