If I could invent something new

Light-Speed Helicopter

Inventing is the process of creating something new. Invention is something that has not been seen or used before. If I could invent something new I would. I could invent something new. I would invent a High speed helicopter. It would come with a suit that can withstand 20G (gravitational force) It would be used by the Army for wars and battle on land and water. It would be sold for 10,000,000$. In a secret lab where it would be modified for different terrain.
