MY INVENTION WOULD BE A ROBOT TEACHER

My invention would have the ability to teach the same way a teacher does. Its main purpose is that is a teacher for children whose parents could not afford to take children to a school, people or adults who are illiterate, the blind, deaf, dumb and disordered children and adults. The robot teacher would picture out the project images for students, given them questions orally and be able to respond to questions. It would come with an AI supervisor to ensure fair work and no mal practice. The invention would cover all aspect of education including apprenticeship. Adults too are not left out because they would be taught life skills, knitting, drawing, making soup and cooking, basic education before going to learn higher institution.

The invention would have many features, human to human question and teacher to student communicator to transmit information. The robot teacher has the ability to teach or speak all known and unknown languages. It would also have the special ability to teach blind, deaf, disordered and dumb humans.

When a student passes all questions asked, he would be given a certificate and a job of his or her choice based mostly on result, course and performance.

It would be present in all learning, institutions. It has many advantages like reduction of illiteracy, ability to teach humans of different health condition, belief, customs, tribes and language.

The robot teacher would be produced in Nigeria firstly distributed in Nigeria before exported to other countries and people the access to the world and as I said I would invent it not for money but for educational students who perform well in their work. We would also help produce robot teachers in all schools.

The robot teacher may cause job losses that is why I thought of this, why don't the robot teachers have its own personal school? Other teachers could also be in charge of the robot teacher, the invention would write and explain topics in normal schools and if the robot teacher would write and explain work summary.

I know the robot teacher may seem to take the position of a teacher but as I said it is for the main purpose of education of education to all humans. The robot teacher would also be able to transmit audio visual teachings of the teachers to student. It would also fill the post of a teacher needed for a particular subject.

The robot teacher no matter the situation would never attack or destroy anything, it would rather power off in case of poor teaching in performance there would be 10 years warranty even though it's free.

The robot teacher when it finds itself in a disordered class, it would re arrange the class and make orderliness, in case it goes out of hand the robot teacher would call the teacher in charge of it and talk about the situation the teacher would then pass her information to the robot teacher then it would pass it to the students and get the class in order.

I like my new invention because every child, man or woman deserves to be educated. Thank you.
