

IF I CAN INVENT SOMETHING NEW

Necessity they say is the mother of invention. Almost all the things that human beings are using today are all invented by one person or the other. For example: the thing we use in our homes like: Electric stoves, Fridges, Pot and other things

Also what we wear on our bodies, like clothes, shoes, wristwatch and so on. Were all invented by someone. The handsets, cars, airplane, ships, and trains were all the works of invention.

In fact life generally are characterized by invention. So if I am to invent something new I would first of all look at the environment and find out what are the needs of the people around there and what I will do to better their lives.

Looking at the present economic hardship in the country today and the hunger and diseases that is everywhere in the society, one will find it necessary to do something that will help in solving some of the problems.

Therefore, if I am to invent something new, I will make sure that I study well and make extensive research on a particular thing or drug that can totally remove cancer from human body.

Due to so many lives that have been lost in Nigeria and some other countries of the world as humanity the drug that will completely eradicate or cure cancer in human body.

Having this in circulation will shape us into resourceful humans even our unborn and yet to come generation. Because when they hear of it, they would forever be encouraged to participate in doing it.

Why should I invent something like this new, instead of going for another, this alone can pave way very much that the whole world may live longer in our generation

Life isn't hard, and it can never be, it can only be hard when we don't understand it, when we sigh continually. when we look for faults, bends, curves and imperfectness in it, and also when we nickname it "HARD" because, anything that has a name goes by that name (i.e. name affects its bearer). If I invent the immediate cure for cancer as something new, we would make it to the finishing and to the top, because everything in life has full stop.

Many of the things we are using today were invented by those who have died long ago e.g the Wright brothers who invented airplane and Mr. Ford who invented automobiles. Every challenge in the world has a solution but that solution can only be discovered when we make a deep search and by inspiration something new can be invented

In conclusion, life is completely unpredictable; life is a mystery. Inventing an immediate cure for the deadly cancer will be my gift to the world and a blessing to the society at large.
