

IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING BY OLAJIDE AWONUSI

YEAR 7 (JSS 1)

An invention is any object, machine etc that is created by an inventor.

If I could invent something, I would invent something to make people invisible anytime they want but program it to only work for certain reasons. The device or machine will only make you invisible when what you want to do will have a positive impact and not a negative one.

It would be used to stop robbery cases, I will also have invisible cameras to record these thieves and later present the videos as evidences so that justice can take its cause. I would install invisible security cameras that will catch dishonest people, criminals, terrorist etc. I would enter a plane without anyone knowing and I could travel to anywhere I like at any time (to do something positive that will save the world of course). I would go to the jungle and stop the hunters from killing animals and stop the depopulation of animals, I would stop so many crimes and vices happening in the country, I would help the president to hunt down criminals so that there would be less crimes and vices in the world.

In school I could stop bullies and bad people in the school from hurting the good ones and also if people try to cheat I would be there to stop them. I also would be getting paid for this, I would be wealthy but nobody will really know who I am and the people who did bad things to others will get justice.

When I grow up I would become part of the security team and then I will become their most prized possession and I would be admired by many and be well paid. If a war was to happen I would go alone and would bring everybody to prison by myself, I could plant a bomb without any body knowing.

If the world ask me to create another thing, I would create a website that could make me track thieves easier and then bring them into prison. Sometimes I would go on a vacation to take a rest from the security job and inventions.

I will distribute the money I have to charity and my parents and some to churches and then the only people I would trust my identity to is my family, my wife and children because my invention will put an end to a lot of vices and bad people might want to kill me.

And that would be what I would try to invent to solve half of the world's problem.
