ESSAY TOPIC: IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

This is indeed a very interesting topic which can approach different people from different dimensions. But for me, I am going to approach this topic based on “self-wish”. That is, what I can actually invent, whether it is realistic or not in the eyes of others.

To invent something new simply means to create or design something which has not existed before.

Inview of this, if I could invent something new, it would be “A self-Advice machine”. In my own opinion, A self-advice machine here is considered as a gadget which is capable of recording your actions and inactions and constantly acting as a reminder or a guide towards ensuring or maintaining prudence of actions at all time.

To begin with, I would like to quote the words of my father. “The best advice is the one you give to yourself” My father will always conclude thus after talking to me for some hours. I always wish in my heart that I can have a gadget or machine to select and store these best advice so that I can listen to them myself from time to time to help me act right.

This self- advice machine, if invented will have the capability to modify the behavioral pattern of someone especially when you have internalized the advice of your parents and teachers. it will enable you to choose the best approach to things and situations in life, thereby helping you to form a positive pattern of behaviour.

In addition, in my own opinion, this self- Advice machine will help one to manage one’s time effectively and efficiently. It will help one to know when it is right time to get up from bed, prepare and go to school or church, carry out your house chores and also create time to study without neglecting other social activities as it is designed by one- self.

Moreso, self-advice machine will act or serve as a guide to someone towards achieving the best result and success in life. It is everyone’s desire to succeed in life, therefore, this machine will select and store the best guide and direction for someone who has iron- wheeled determination to succeed in life. It will also help the person to always make gear and frantic efforts towards achieving success in life.

Furthermore, this machine will help in my opinion to analyze various advices from various people, thereby helping someone to accept what is best and reject what he/she considers inappropriate as he/she will have to make final decision by him/her self.

Conclusively, if I could invent something new it would always be all important self-advice machine.
