

If I could event something new

If I could event something new I wish I could invent a machine that converts thoughts into written words it would be called the "thought-o-writer". I love writing stories and journal entries ,but sometimes my hand gets tired or I can 't type fast enough to keep up with my ideas. The thought-o-writer would solve that problem.

You would just think about what you want to write,and the machine would be like having your own personal secretary I would use the thought-o-writer to write books articles, and even emails to my friends and family. It would save so much time and energy.

In today's society, there appears to be a growing trend of avoiding work in favor of idleness. The reliance on machine to complete tasks that one should undertake personally can lead to the overburdening of the technology, causing it to malfunction. It is crucial for individuals to refrain from succumbing to laziness and actively contribute to making a positive impact. By engaging in innovation and discovery, I have the potential to effect meaningful change within society and discover new things. Everyone around me says it's a great idea and maybe one day with the help of Heirs Insurance Group it will possible with advance technology.

Thank You.
