TOPIC: IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

Hmm...., There are lots of amazing inventions yet to be invented. If I could invent machines, I would invent a:

a. A talking book/ Audio book: This book would have buttons to operate it, as it will read out all the contents and components in it.

With this feature it will help the dumb people who cannot read aloud. If a person is deaf, there would be a chip inserted in their brains  as whatever is in the book  will go to their mind without them having to read it.

This is a particularly clever way of educating deaf people.

These Talking books/ Audio books are waterproof, that helps it from being destroyed if water or any other liquid is poured on it.

b. An armored house/building: This building will be equipped with self-defense, and it will be sensitive to its environment.

It will also be able to shut down its offices, doors, and facilities for adequate protection, in addition to its functions it will be able to take the people inside into a safe place/emergency room.

c. A toilet bed: This machine will be able to have the same functions of a bed and a toilet . It aids in the comfort of patients in the hospital.

All this the youths will be able to invent only if they are given the opportunity.
