BACK GROUND

INNOVATION OF WATER SOLUTION PUMPING MACHINE

This brand of pumping machine is not like the normal conventional pumping machine. I can also call it all in one pumping machine, it work as a pump and the same time as water treated plant. This machine would help to solve of the disease called cholera in the country.

IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

Innovation is the introduction of new things, ideas, or ways of doing something. If I could invent something new it would have to be a water solution pumping machine. Here are some of the problems that resulted to the thought of inventing a water solution pumping machine. The current outbreak of cholera, since it is caused by poor healthy drinking water and the high cost of the water treatment plant for the people in the rural areas.

This invention is just like the conventional pumping machine but the difference is that it pumps the water out of the ground and at the same time purifies the water for safe consumption with the aid of an alkaline stone which makes the water become an alkaline water which makes it suitable for drinking.

Secondly the installation of this water solution pumping machine does not need the services of a professional because it comes with an installation manual. Alkaline water is water with high potential hydrogen than regular drinking water which is good for consumption.

The problem of cholera can be easily solved by getting this machine due to suitable purification of the water because of the alkaline. Alkaline kills bacteria and diseases in water, this device would help to promote healthy drinking water.

There were so many draw backs in the invention but to God be the Glory we were successful. These drawback were, waters was not flowing as it was supposed to, the treatment was not working until after 15minutes, the coil for the machine was loose and we had to coil them back and so on.

This invention would benefit humanity in many ways in the sense that people in the rural area would be able to afford this machine. The alkaline water has so many benefits which are, it improves bone health, reduces high blood pressure, blood sugar and cholesterol. It gives longevity which means it would give you longer life spans. This invention has a brand name which is Faith's Water solution pumping machine, so people in need of it could use the brand name to differentiate it from others and it will be affordable and easy to set up.

Considering everything, if I could invent something, it would be a water solution pumping machine that will change the current problems faced by the country.
