ESSAY TOPIC—IF I COULD INVENT SOMETHING NEW

Invention refers to the process of upgrading or creating tangible models to modernity. Product of invention are embodiment of creativity and ideas. Through invention, new tangible products are created and brought into existence. To enable a person to invent new things, It involves total interest, concentration and total focus towards your aim. It also involves a firm decision or determination to achieve your goal.

In summary, There's a requirement to set resolution plans to achieve your goal.

Before inventing an equipment, I will think of the benefits and side effects. It is often said that what has good sides has bad sides. Likewise, advantages also have disadvantages. Nothing is perfect.

Just as consumers are entitled to the right to safety and satisfaction of basic needs, so also the users of products of invention are entitled to the right to safety and satisfaction of basic needs. Therefore I will consider the safety of the users and how it will satisfy their needs. For instance, Television is a product of invention and though it serves as a source of entertainment, it can also cause distraction and corrupt good manners of growing children thereby creating room for negative behaviours.

Also, the aeroplane is a product of invention and though it may be the fastest means of transportation, it may also lead to death of people or disability when the aeroplane crashes. Products of invention should be more of help and satisfying than destructive. Invention takes a couple of months or even years to accomplish but there should always be a sense of determination to enable the product to be completed. As the saying goes, Rome was not built in a day therefore perseverance is very important in the invention of tangible models.

One of the reasons why I would like to invent is because through invention, people are paid greatly and become famous individuals e.g Willem Einthoven. The major importance of invention is to make man's work easier, quicker and more convenient.

If I could invent something new, the product will be a Robotic Car. The reason why I would like to invent this product is to reduce the stress of driving by individuals. I would like to create a situation whereby the car can function without manual intervention.

Furthermore, If I could invent something new, I would prefer a car powered by solar. It will be more convenient for people to use a solar powered car than fuel purchase which is more expensive.

Invention brings about experience, fulfilment and makes an individual outstanding but it requires perseverance as illustrated in the proverb ‘Rome was not built in a day’
